Council of European Professional
Informatics Societies

CEPIS – the European Network of Informatics Associations

Representing over 200,000 ICT professionals in 29 countries across greater Europe

Influence

Join CEPIS expert groups on topical digital issues, pool your knowledge and help shape policies and decisions on a European level.

If you wish to join one of the existing groups or propose a new one, please contact the Secretariat at info@cepis.org.

Community

Engage with thousands of ICT professionals across Europe to exchange experience, share best practices and build your professional network

Information

Receive regular updates on the latest European digital policies, funding opportunities, events and other relevant news by contacting the CEPIS Secretariat at info@cepis.org indicating your Member Society name and your consent to receive the Member Updates.

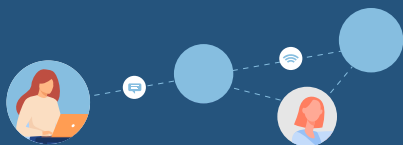

Profession

Become a part of the IT Professionalism Europe network to follow and contribute to the development of professional standards in IT, ensuring that the European ICT workforce is trusted, highly skilled, competent and respected.

You can join the ITPE network by sending an email to info@itprofessionalism.org.

Representation

Share the views of your national IT association with a range of EU-level stakeholders: if you have a position paper or an opinion piece on a specific ICT-related topic, let us know by contacting info@cepis.org

Values

Support the DiversIT Charter to achieve gender equality in the ICT profession. Find out more about the Charter at <https://cepis.org/diversit-charter/>.

If you would like to become involved with development and implementation of the Charter in Europe, you are welcome to join the CEPIS Women in ICT expert group.

Together for an inclusive, ethical, secure and responsible Europe in the digital age
